Bob Newhart

Who is perhaps the only man in the world to talk to himself on the phone without people looking at him strangely? Not only that, he has become a household name to two generations. You got it right if you said Bob Newhart. Known the world over for his two long running television shows, Bob's real start came in standup comedy, yes -- talking to himself on the telephone.

Rita Rudner

Rita recently signed a long term contract to perform exclusively at New York-New York Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas. What began as 1 month booking at the MGM Grand in 2000 led to a permanent engagement at New York-New York's 1.2 million Cabaret theatre built exclusively for her. In between live appearances, Martin and Rita continue to write and sell movie and television scripts in Hollywood. Bill Cosby

Bill Cosby is, by any standards, one of the most influential stars in America today. Whether it be through concert appearances or recordings, television or films, commercials or education, Bill Cosby has the ability to touch people's lives. His humor often centers on the basic cornerstones of our existence, seeking to provide an insight into our roles as parents, children, family members, and men and women. With over thirty years in comedy, Bill Cosby is for many young comedians the man who wrote the textbook. During the mid-sixties, Cosby had as many as six albums on the charts at one time. Eight of the albums have been certified Gold Records by the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA).

Jeff Foxworthy

In addition to being a successful stand-up comedian, actor and recording artist, Jeff is also the author of three best selling books. In 1990 he captured the American Comedy Award for "Stand-Up Comic of the Year." ABC premiered "The Jeff Foxworthy Show" from 95 to 97. In 2002, Foxworthy joined comedians Bill Engvall, Larry the Cable Guy and Ron White for the "Blue Collar Comedy Tour." The tour was later taped and filmed as a concert movie in 2003.
